

Our goal at Phoenix arise is to fill in all the gaps in our systems
Everyone focuses on pulling people out of the river but we are not focusing on stopping them from falling in and teaching them how to rebuild

From our workshops to our center to our support and outreach

Our workshops are tailored based off the group we are working with, we spend time prior learning about the learning styles hobbies interests and challenges of the youth prior to coming to do workshops, we talk to community workers, staff, teachers and or parents depending where we are doing the workshops

We cater our incentives our programming and our activities towards the needs interest and barriers of the youth so when we go into do our workshops we have a high chance of engagement and success

We like our workshops to be between minimum 4 weeks our preference is 8-12 weeks we do offer shorter time periods but we find anything shorter than 4 weeks we are unable to build the relationships, skills and set the foundation for learning and helping the youth build or upgrade their skill sets

Our program plan can cover a list of many things based off the need of each group. The list is also attached for reference.

While we are doing our workshops we look out for youth who might be struggling or in need of extra support whether that is, lunches groceries, clothes, shoes, haircuts, mental health supports therapist, psychiatrist, peer support worker, crisis worker, advocate, we try and match the youth to what they need or we give them our information and let them reach out when they are ready for support

Each workshop we do we bring meals for the kids because no one can learn on a empty stomach and we do a little thank you party on the last day, we also offer incentives throughout the workshops to help raise interest in the programming

Another highlight of our workshops and how we stand out is everything we do is play based, from debates about online safety, role playing fight flight freeze fawn responses, pointing out vulnerabilities in make belief stories to biggest fear paper airplane race, everything we do is catered to helping our target audience enjoy our programs, want to come back, leave learning something new and bringing more youth to our next group. On average each group costs about 200-300$ as we see on average about 30 kids per group so with lunches/dinner/incentives not including emergency funds if someone doesn't have access for food or bus passes. Our workshops main goal is to prevent people falling victim to trafficking and prevent those falling victim to becoming the traffickers as well as how to notice signs and reach out for help!

Our long term goal is to have our curriculum shared with all the organizations and school boards and help them build it into their curriculum so all the youth can benefit and become aware and protected against trafficking.
